

ARIZONA JOURNAL OF INTERDISCIPLINARY STUDIES

CALL FOR PAPERS
2011-2012 EDITION

The Arizona Journal of Interdisciplinary Studies, in affiliation with Confluence: Center for Creative Inquiry, invites students to submit papers for its inaugural 2011-2012 issue. Articles should be interdisciplinary and may focus on any subject that addresses questions at the intersection of the Humanities, Social Sciences, Arts and other studies. The Journal has a particular interest in articles relating to Arizona and the U.S.-Mexico border. As a peer-reviewed journal, the Journal fosters a unique discussion among many disciplines. The Journal will be printed by the University of Arizona and distributed to university libraries nationwide.

Articles may vary in length but should be approximately 3750-5000 words, not including endnotes. Students are encouraged to submit new pieces of original research but may use papers from class such as capstone theses, essays and research papers.

Intent to Submit Deadline: December 1, 2011
Paper Submission Deadline: January 15, 2012

Submission Instructions: To submit a paper to the 2011-2012 issue, email Lauren Johnston, Editor-in-Chief, by December 1, 2011 expressing your intent to participate. Include 'AZJIS Submission' in the subject line. Complete submissions must be emailed by January 15, 2012. Please format your submission in Chicago Style. On the cover page, include your name, the title and an abstract. Due to our blind submission process, only include your name on the cover page. You will be notified of our selections by March 1, 2012. The first issue will be published in April 2012.

If you have any questions, please contact the Editor-in-Chief:

Lauren Johnston

lrjohnst@email.arizona.edu

confluentcenter
for creative inquiry